

Gather Together

Servant Lord, help us to serve as you have served us. You have given us food, teach us to feed others. You have given us shelter, help us to provide shelter for others. Amen.

How did someone serve you today?
How were you a servant?

✚ Live today with the heart of a servant. ✚

Mark 10:35-45 - The Request of James and John

What do you really want? Are you brave enough to ask for it?
What if the answer is no?

Can you imagine asking Jesus to sit at his right and left for all eternity? It makes me wonder if they really understood what they were asking for.

Think of a time when you were sure that you knew what you wanted and went for it, but it just didn't turn out like you thought it might or should. Was it that person you really wanted to date? Or that flavor of ice cream? Share that story with someone, and ask them to share a similar story with you.

As you go through your week, make a list of what you really want and why you want it. Here's the catch—for everything that you really want list something that is a blessing and why it is a blessing!

Pay attention to your wants and blessings. How do they line up with each other? Do your wants get more pronounced or less as you think about the good things that you do have?
